SCUDDING SKIES

Under scudding cumulus clouds, four enthusiastic rowers get into training for the Kelowna Regatta. Although strong winds have resulted in much chopiness on the lake in the past week, the task of training must go on. At every suitable time, the call goes out and the athletes gather to work out on the lake.

Likely Heir To Mao Emerges In China's Power Struggle

TOKYO (AP)—China's defense minister, Lin Biao, seemed today to be emerging from the country's current purge as a likely successor to aging Communist Party Chief Mao Tse-tung.

Red Flag, the theoretical organ of the Chinese Communist party's central committee, portrayed the 57-year-old defense minister as an interpreter of Mao's ideas—a distinction not given any other of Mao's associates. Mao is 72.

Rusk 'Terribly Misinformed' On Support For U.S. Policies

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Former U.S. ambassador John K. Galbraith said today State Secretary Dean Rusk is "terribly misinformed" in his estimates of support for the administration's foreign policy.

Speaking at the commencement exercises of Rhode Island College, Galbraith, now an economic professor at Harvard University, quoted Rusk as saying recently: "I have found that the objectives of American foreign policy are widely understood, respected and supported."

"I quote these words very precisely," the Canadian-born Galbraith said. "They are to be read in light of the fact that the secretary sits at the very center of what is one of the greatest information-gathering organizations in the world. How could a man in his position be so terribly misinformed?"

Galbraith, ambassador to India under the late president Kennedy, said:

"The obvious truth is that not a single one of our European allies has sent a solitary soldier to the support of our enterprise in Viet Nam, Sweden, a country hitherto noted for neither intelligence nor malignant anti-Americanism, has thought so little of our policy that she has imposed an arms embargo—a quarantine—upon us."

"Nor are matters much better here at home. Week by week, the polls show a steady drop in the admiration of Marshall (South Viet Nam president) and therewith in policies that the secretary espouses. "It is difficult to find anything, either abroad or at home, that remotely resembles the understanding, respect and support which the secretary perceives."

Suspects In Flying Robbery Arrested By Police In Alaska

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—Two men accused of a flying robbery were in jail today after the pilot of a plane searching for them spotted their hiding place.

A bloodhound led a ground party to a garage 15 miles north of here Friday where police found Larry Crews, 26, and James Harkenson, 27, rain-soaked and weary.

Officers said earlier Friday two men chartered a plane in Juneau and told pilot Ken Locken they were on a business trip—that included a stop at Sitka.

At Sitka, Locken was told to wait at the plane float. A short time later, Sitka police said two men held up the Pioneer Bar and escaped with $2,500. Locken said his passengers returned, climbed back into the plane, pulled pistols and ordered a quick takeoff. He said the men offered him $1,000 to fly them to Seattle.

Locken appeared to play along with them, but flew slowly to use up fuel. After flying 130 miles, he told them he would have to land because he was low on fuel.

He landed off a beach north of here and the two fled into the woods.

Crews and Harkenson, who said they were from Everett, Wash., were charged with armed robbery and bail was set at $10,000 each.

Alma Now Mere Gale

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Tropical storm Alma pounded the North Carolina coast with gale force winds, drenching rain and moderately heavy surf today as she headed seaward.

Nearly eight inches of rain were reported in the Wilmington area as Alma remained on an east-northeast course just the coast and threatened shipping lanes off North Carolina's outer banks. The season's first such storm she was downgraded from a hurricane Friday after leaving 41 dead.

Alma caused isolated street flooding in Wilmington and Morehead city and raked the coastline with gale winds 20 to 30 miles an hour and gusting to 50 miles an hour. No major damage or evacuations were reported, however.

Gale warnings were displayed from Myrtle Beach S.C., to the Virginia capes. The weather bureau said a cold front moving southeastward through North Carolina may cause erratic motion of Alma when the two systems collide. But Alma was expected to continue out to sea.

South Carolina coastal towns reported heavy rains and minor wind damage Friday.

China Reports Bumper Crop

PEKING (Reuters)—China, which has bought wheat from Western countries after drought-hit harvests, reported today a bumper crop from Shanlung, one of its major wheat-producing provinces.

The New China news agency says that except in a few districts particularly hit by drought, crop yields in general showed an increase over last year.

It recalls that last fall the Communist party called on and got ready for a protracted communes to "discard illusions fight against drought."

"More than 70 per cent of the party and government functionaries in charge of agriculture left their offices and went out to the villages," in Shantung, the agency says.

Work on large-scale irrigation projects continued through the winter and spring.

Ottawa Losing Millions In Frauds

OTTAWA (CP)—Conservative MP Erik Nielsen said Friday some of his informants have given the RCMP information on alleged bankruptcy frauds that cost governments $150,000,000 in lost revenue.

An RCMP spokesman said the force is assessing the information in the process of deciding which agency will investigate the complaints received.

'Lonely End' Now A Hero

YUO MORONG, Viet Nam (AP)—Capt. Bill Carpenter said today he called in air and artillery strikes on Communist troops overruning his position because "this was the most effective way I could see to kill them."

"The air force made the initial run with napalm and cannon fire," he said. "We lost some of our people then."

The decision saved the ground for his company Thursday and may win him the Congressional Medal of Honor. His company is company C of the 20th Battalion of the 1st Airborne Division.

Carpenter, 28, who was twice as the "lonely end" of the 1953 West Point football team, married the remains of his company out of the battle area today.

Carpenter's company ran into dug-in North Vietnamese regulars as he led his men into a wooded area in the jungle highlands. The U.S. troops were taking part in a big sweep called Operations Hawthorne.

Carpenter was called the "lonely end" because he never entered the West Point team's huddles. A quarterback's signal told him which play was being called.

Meredith's March Slows

BATESVILLE, Miss. (AP)—While a foot-long procession of thousands of people gathered in Mississippi, U.S. civil rights groups from coast to coast today planned vocal and walking support to the cause now known as James Meredith's march against fear.

The march pace will be slowed a little through a new tactic. Instead of sticking to U.S. 51, which only brushes the outskirts of towns, the marchers will go into county seats to escort Negroes to voter registration places.

Meredith, the first Negro to walk for two days from the Tennessee line toward Jackson, the state capital, before he was wounded by two blasts of birdshot. Others took over from where he left off and their march has fluctuated from 125 to 600.

Meredith set out on his walk to encourage Negroes to register. In support of the marchers, civil rights workers across the U.S. scheduled rallies and marches today or Sunday.

Romania Call—End Pact!

BUCHAREST (Reuters)—Romanian Party Leader Nicolae Ceausescu called today for the abolition of the NATO and Warsaw pact organizations, the Romanian news agency Agerpres reported.

Ceausescu, addressing a meeting at Pitesti, also called for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Europe, the withdrawal of all foreign troops from the territories of other nations, and the dismantling of foreign bases.

(Earlier reports of similar though less explicitly phrased demands by the Romanian leader indicated that his remarks were directed as much at the Soviet troops stationed in East Germany as at the Western forces in European NATO countries.)

Ceausescu said it is time for the abolition of the two organizations "so that relations on a new basis can be established between the European countries."

Sinatra Sports Black Eye

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Police say "investigation is far from over" in a case in which singer Frank Sinatra's eye was discolored and a prominent businessman suffered head injuries, requiring 2½ hours of brain surgery.

Officers quoted Sinatra as saying the man hit him without provocation and that he did not strike back. Sinatra's friend, Dean Martin, backed him up.

A Beverly Hills businessman, Frederick H. Weisman, 54, former president of Hunt Foods Inc. and brother-in-law of financier Norton Simon, was unconscious in Mount Sinai Hospital.

A hospital spokesman described Weisman's condition as "serious" today following brain surgery. He has been unconscious since the altercation

No Foreign Aid For U.K. Seamen

LONDON (CP)—Leaders of Britain's striking seamen said today they are not getting the help they want from foreign shipping unions.

Failure of the International Transport Workers Federation to go all out in support of the seamen's call for a total boycott of British ships was the second blow at the strike from the union side. Britain's Trades Union Congress has refused to go beyond its present policy of refusing only to do work normally performed by the strikers.

William Hogarth, general secretary of the seamen's union, told reporters that strike leaders met with the international federation and "it was negative as far as we were concerned. We were not happy at all."

"They have not given us the help we expected," he said. "I thought we had a right to a certain amount of help, but we didn't get it."

There was no sign the strikers were ready to abandon their chief battery—the 40-hour week now.

The seamen's union Friday relaxed slightly its tough stand, asked for new talks and said it saw a solution to the deadlock. There was an dramatic breakthrough to a compromise. Further talks were not expected until Monday.

While the seamen gave no public hint of the settlement they had in mind, several newspapers reported it would mean asking for a government subsidy to the shipping industry for one year of up to $1,000,000 ($15,000,000).

The government has already rejected that idea and such a settlement would mean forever its incomes policy—an attempt to hold back inflation by keeping pay increases to about 5 per cent.

Log Drive Plan Wins Out Over Fish Industry's Pleas

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—A clash between the federal and provincial governments is threatened in north central British Columbia Monday over log drives on the Skeena River.

The federal government has forbidden log movement on the river because of the danger of damage to salmon spawning grounds. The provincial government plans to start a log drive Monday in defiance of the order.

Provincial Lands and Forests Minister Ray Watson said in Vancouver the province plans Monday to start a drive of logs sent from Fraser Lake to Skeena. The government will sell the logs to recover money owed by the company for stumpage fees.

W. R. Hourston, Pacific area director for the federal fisheries department, said studies have shown log drives on the river are harmful to salmon spawning beds and stocks.

Fishermen and conservation groups have also protested the use of the river by logging companies.

Federal Fisheries Minister Robichaud earlier this week banned all drives on the river. Mr. Watson said drives have been conducted on the river on an uncontrolled basis for between 20 and 30 years. He said the matter has reached a point of principle.

"If it is so detrimental there shouldn't be any fish left in the river," he said.

"Rivers are a provincial resource and a provincial responsibility," Mr. Watson said. "The appraisal of timber value was made on the basis of cheap water transportation."

Bert Lebow, Social Credit MP for Carleton, said in his home at Prince George the report by fisheries staff members is "almost entirely pure nonsense."

"It is full of assumptions," he said. "It suggests logs running over gravel bars will ruin spawning grounds but every year the river goes out at low water over those same bars. And the log drive is carried out at high water."

Mr. Lebow said the appraisal of timber value was made on the basis of cheap water transportation.

"To switch would cost $80,000 to $90,000 per year."

"If it is decided that the river drives must be stopped as a question of the national good then it is a matter for compensation."

South Viet Nam's Buddhists Defy No-Demonstration Rule

HUE (Reuters)—Some 5,000 Buddhist opponents of South Viet Nam's ruling military junta defied police orders today and staged an anti-government demonstration here.

Marchers led by about 100 monks carried banners declaring "we strongly condemn the J.S. president and (Head of State) Nguyen Van Thieu and Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky who are trying to kill Buddhism."

In Saigon, Thich (Venerable) Tam Chan, a moderate influence in the current Buddhist campaign for a return to civilian rule, said an anti-government movement he heads would boycott any election held by the ruling generals.

A communique from the Committee for the Defence of Buddhism reaffirmed its lack of confidence in Ky and Thieu and called on Buddhists across the country to boycott any elections arranged by the government.

Buddhists make up more than half of the 15,000,000 population of South Viet Nam.

SET A DATE
In April, following a month of Buddhist-led agitation against the military rulers, Thieu promised a general election before the end of September.

But Ky later made it evident that the election the government planned would not provide an immediate switch to civilian rule but would decide the makeup of an assembly to draw up a constitution.

National Meeting Sought About Crippling Strikes

The North West Line Elevators Association Friday asked Prime Minister Pearson to convene a national conference to seek solutions to existing and threatened strikes that restrict movement of goods. A telegram signed by President Cecil Lamont, said existing St. Lawrence River port strikes have already seriously retarded the much needed export of many millions of dollars worth of grain and goods and have resulted in lost sales of grain.

Northern Affairs Minister Laing told Commons Friday he has rejected a suggestion for a federal-provincial conference on national ports policy. Replying to Michael Lambert, P.C. (Edmonton West), Mr. Laing said the conference was suggested by Alberta's Industry Minister A. R. Patrick. He had informed Mr. Patrick that the ports are a federal responsibility, and there already was a federal-provincial group set up on the ports.

State Secretary Judy LaMarsh told the Commons Friday she will produce a white paper on broadcasting as quickly as she can. Replying to Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson, she said she hopes to have it ready by the end of June. She added technical publication details are holding up the white paper.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart may visit Jakarta soon in an important new move toward smoothing British relations with Indonesia, well-informed sources disclosed today. The sources said it is almost certain Stewart would visit Indonesia on his way home from a Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting in Canberra, Australia, June 21-29.

A U.S. soldier who refused to accept a rifle because he did not want to kill was sentenced to a year's hard labor and fined $500 by a court martial in Chu Chi, South Viet Nam. Pfc. Adam R. Weber, 24, of New Orleans, said before his sentencing on conviction of a charge of disobeying an order, that he would do any job that did not require him to kill. He volunteered to serve as a front-line combat medical corpsman if he remains in the army.

China's Premier Chen En Lai will visit Romania this month at the head of a Communist party and government delegation, the New China News Agency reported Friday. The visit, for which no exact date was given, is at the invitation of the Romanian Communist party and government.

Wesley Norman Chapman, 38, of Prince George, Friday was committed for trial on a charge of non-capital murder. He is charged with the non-capital murder of James White, 67, a district trapper, who died in hospital after allegedly being beaten behind a chicken house May 11.

King Frederik of Denmark and U.S. evangelist Billy Graham were among thousands who watched the Queen take the salute at the annual trooping-the-color ceremony today. The Danish visitors watched with members of British royalty from a window overlooking the parade grounds at Whitehall.

Rats Eat Better Than Some People

ROME (AP)—In vast regions of the world where hunger is worst, the rats are eating better than the people. The United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization estimated today that rats and other pests consume 20 per cent of all grain produced in the Far East, with the loss as high as 25 per cent in some of the underdeveloped countries. The loss to rats, both in volume and value of agricultural products, was estimated at more than 16 per cent world-wide, and 15 per cent in Africa and the Middle East.

Newfoundland And Quebec 'To Get Along Just Same'

MONTREAL (CP)—Newfoundland Premier Joseph Smallwood said Friday Quebec's change of government probably will not affect relations between the two neighboring provinces.

Newfoundland has got on very well with Quebec," he said in an interview at Montreal International Airport. "I don't think the change of government will affect anything in that respect."

He would not comment on a statement made earlier this week by Union Nationale Leader Daniel Johnson, Quebec's premier-elect, who said he does not recognize the boundary between this province and Labrador which is administered by Newfoundland.

"I don't think this is an issue," Mr. Smallwood said. Asked if he considered the Quebec-Labrador boundary legal, he said: "That's a matter of argument."

Newfoundland was given control over all Labrador east of the 52nd parallel by a Privy Council order in 1927, but the border has been disputed since.

CITY OF KELOWNA

WEED CONTROL NOTICE

The attention of owners and occupiers of resident land in the City of Kelowna is drawn to By-Law 1553 which deals with Weed Control in the City. This By-Law reads in part:

"4. Every owner or occupier of land within the Municipality shall cut, or cause to be cut down, or otherwise destroyed, all weeds growing thereon so often in each year as is necessary to prevent them going to seed; and if any owner or occupier of such land neglects to carry out the provisions of this section he shall be guilty of an infraction of the provisions of this By-Law.

5. (a) Any Inspector finding weeds growing on occupied land within the Municipality shall notify the occupant thereof to burn or otherwise effectively destroy such weeds within ten (10) days from the date of such notice.

6. If any owner or occupier of resident land upon which land weeds shall be growing shall not within ten (10) days after any notice in writing, signed by an Inspector authorized by the Municipal Council for this purpose, and containing a description of the land intended to be affected thereby, that such weeds are growing upon such land, requiring him to cut down and burn or otherwise effectively destroy the same, either personally or by being left for him at his usual or last known place of abode, cut down and burn or effectively destroy all such weeds then growing or being upon such land, such owner or occupier shall be guilty of an infraction of the provisions of this By-Law.

7. If the owner or occupier of resident land shall for the purpose of ten (10) days after service of such notice as aforesaid refuse or neglect to destroy the weeds referred to in any such notice, it shall be lawful for the Inspector, or any person authorized in writing by the Municipal Council, to cut down and burn or otherwise effectively destroy the same, and for that purpose with sufficient assistants to enter upon any land in respect whereof any such notice shall have been served as aforesaid; and the Municipal Council shall be entitled to recover from such owner or occupier, the expenses of and attending such cutting down and destruction as hereinafter provided.

11. Any person to whom notice has been given under any of the preceding sections who neglects to carry out the directions contained therein shall be guilty of an infraction of the provisions of this By-Law.

12. Every person who violates any provision of this By-Law, or any amendment thereto, or thereof, shall be guilty of an offence against this By-Law and shall be liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) and costs for each offence, and a fresh penalty not exceeding the same amount for every day, or portion of a day, during which such offence shall continue."

Similar regulations apply to "Non-Resident Land" which is land within the City which is unoccupied and is owned by a person who is not resident within the Municipality, or by a corporation not having a place of business in the Municipality.

The City of Kelowna is conducting an active inspection service in regard to the enforcement of this By-Law and the co-operation of all parties concerned is requested.

LONG BACKLOG IN HOUSE

Recess a Little Early in Fall

OTTAWA (CP)—This is the year when Parliament's summer recess could come mainly in the fall.

After 94 sittings, MPs will face a long backlog of top-priority government business scheduled for action before the recess.

The government's unofficial target date for the adjournment is mid-July. But prolonged debates could easily develop on such issues as medical care insurance, welfare payments, federal aid to education, labor unrest and the new Bank Act. Because of a number of important conferences scheduled for the fall, the government is thinking of a "summer" recess lasting from late July or August until late October or November.

MENTIONED AS FACTORS

The meetings mentioned as factors for a late recess are:—The 12th general conference of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, set for Ottawa from Sept. 26 to Oct. 4. The Commons is the ideal meeting place, as was shown last year when the Interparliamentary Union held a similar congress here. —A major federal-provincial conference tentatively set for September to discuss a tax-sharing agreement for the next five years. Similar tax conferences usually produced fireworks in the past and the minority Pearson government would not relish facing a hostile Parliament while fending off provincial demands. —The national Liberal convention being held here Oct. 10-12 and a similar Conservative convention Nov. 13-16. MPs will play key roles at both gatherings, which could produce embarrassing policy and leadership disputes.

COULD AFFECT TIMING Another factor that could influence the timing of the adjournment is the forthcoming report on the Gerda Munzinger affair by Mr. Justice Wishart, Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada.

A relaxed, good-humored atmosphere has prevailed in the

Like A Journey Back In History

By KEITH DAVIS

To visit the Rev. E. S. Fleming's farm, east of Kelowna, is like leaving today's modern world and stepping back into the past.

The house was built in 1911 when one of the few telephone exchanges in the valley was Father Fleming's Mission.

On the Fleming farm, which is about four miles east of Kelowna, off Highway 91, the original shed which housed the flour mill and the house built by the owner of the mill, Fredrick Fleming, still stand.

When Fredrick Fleming and his Indian wife built the mill, there was no lumber yard or prefabricated buildings to make the job easier.

Each board, beam and plank had to be cut by hand with only a crosscut saw, a hammer and wedge and an axe to do it with.

This is why the buildings are still standing today. Although the cedar shakes are slowly becoming thinner on the roof of the original mill shed, the 8 by 12-inch beams supporting the roof are still "sound as a dollar."

Each beam carries the roof of the mill, and the beams are made of a single piece of wood, three feet long and six inches wide.

He has an arrow made entirely of wood, which he says is a company stamp, he found buried on the farm used to mark flour sacks. It is several years old. He said when "Brent Family Flour" he found it, he immediately recognized it as one he had made when he was a boy, more than 50 years ago.

Mr. Fleming said the Brent family had moved out in 1953 so the family had been put on the wall in the mill. The original mill house, built in 1911, was a smaller and more modest building.

Behind this shed, on the bank of the mill, stands the stable brought to the mill by farmers. The Brent family used to house almost 100 years ago.

Harmonicats, Too, Featured At Night-Show Performances

Billy Daniels, described by some as the most fantastic Acoustic one-man band performer today, is the headline act for Kelowna's 60th International Regatta.

He brings with him a personal autograph, a tagline, associated with his success in the entertainment field. That tagline is the tune, "Old Black Magic."

In recent engagements in Los Angeles, critics described his performance as "stunning" and "unbelievable." One critic said, "Daniels' stage magic is a well-planned marriage of post-war musical styles with a feeling of swinging swing."

A real star on top of the Regatta, Daniels is a performer who has updated these old favorites with the new popular songs.

Confusion Characterizes Times In Which We Live

CONFUSION is a word which characterizes this day in which we are living. Most of us could say with the writer, "My confusion is continually before me." (Psalm 44:15). Choruses of despair are heard on every side. The United States Atomic Energy Commission recently stated, "We have now made it possible to destroy the human race, to reduce to the time of Cain and Abel man's position on earth; to scatter to the four winds in a matter of seconds the civilization it has taken centuries to build; or hear the skeptic, Bertrand Russell, "Utter and unrelieved gloom awaits us. It is likely that during this present generation all our large cities in every part of the world will be destroyed."

These statements are depressing, to say the least, and it is so easy for us to shrug our shoulders and say, "So what; I can't do anything about it anyway." Nor can we escape the fact that day after day, in every realm of living, confusion reigns. It is evident in many homes; in much of our civic affairs; in the political arena; and, obviously, in the realm of religion.

The Apostle Paul, writing to the Christians at Corinth, sensed the confusion that existed in the church there and he wrote that "God is not the author of confusion, but of peace." (1 Corinthians 14:33). Well then, if God is not confusion's author, someone else must be, and we listen to other voices which plead with us, and by listening to the modern babble, we are torn this way and that way! Whether or not we believe in a personal devil we must admit that there is a Satanic power which continually seeks to keep men in a state of confusion. What are some of the problems creating religious confusion? New curricula, Councils of Churches, Protestant-Roman Catholic relations, the new morality, religious sects, "Christian atheism," the "God is dead" theology, and many others. If the Church is confused in the midst of a world that is utterly confused, then we might as well close the church doors and cease trying to lead people into a better way of life.

The Christian Church must believe and proclaim a "sure" word to the world today. We must not jettison the essentials of the Christian faith in order to appeal to the modern mind. We who profess to bear the name "Christian" need to take a fresh look at our acceptance (or rejection) of the Bible as the authoritative word of God, and we need to consider our commitment to Jesus Christ who gave His great commandment: "Love God with all your heart and with all your mind and with all your life" (Matt. 22:37).

This is really a totalitarian demand. It is a call for Christian commitment which acknowledges God's sovereignty in every dimension of our experience. In love, we are to give Him unconditional priority; and we ought to live humbly for Jesus Christ. Then, in the midst of confusion we will stand firm and we will have a message which will meet the instability of men who surround us. Let us pray the prayer of the psalmist: "In Thee, O Lord do I put my trust; let me never be put to confusion" (Psalm 71:1).

First Baptist Church, Kelowna.

The Deal Is Off

Kelowna real estate people would probably like a listing such as one a British firm now enjoys. They would not need to wrack their brains and draw on their imagination to find suitable phrases to describe the property. All they would need to do would be to reprint a famous love song which begins:

"Maxwellton's braes are bonnie
Where early lies the dew,
And it's there that Annie Laurie
Gie'd me her promise true."
The property for sale, of course, is Maxwellton House, which stands on the site of Glencairn Castle where Annie Laurie was born in 1882. There cannot possibly be an adult man or woman in the English-speaking world who has not sung about Maxwellton and the young maiden for whom the writer of the song would lay him

"down and dee." To a young man standing by the piano, with his arm lightly—or tightly—around the waist of his best girl, Annie Laurie has for decades been the favorite ode to unending love.

But things are not always as they seem and the years bring changes. The Associated Press points out in a story about Maj. Gen. Sir John Laurie's putting the 890-acre Maxwellton estate up for sale, that Annie Laurie didn't marry the chap who wrote the song. And he, Capt. William Douglas, didn't lay him down and dee, either. He lived forty years or more after writing his deathless words of undying love. Annie Laurie married a man named Alexander Ferguson and lived, we hope happily, to the age of 81.

And that makes us give up all thought of buying Maxwellton House. The deal is off.

No Justice

Everyone has heard of disappearing ink, but disappearing paint is something else again. Down in Oregon the state department of motor vehicles is somewhat embarrassed because the yellow paint on some licence plates issued to Oregon motorists last year is chipping and peeling away. Down there they use the plates for more than one year. Some of the licences have become illegible.

There, like here, it is illegal to drive a vehicle on which the plates have been defaced or are for some other reason illegible. The department in a lame apology for the foulup has offered to give peeling plates a new paint job.

It did not, however, offer to go bail for the poor driver who can't convince a state policeman he was doing 65 in a 25-mile zone because he was in a hurry to get his peeling plate painted.

There's no justice!

THEY'RE ALL MAKING A COMEBACK

Quebec Newspapers View Events As They See Them

This is a selection of editorials on current events translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Montreal La Presse—Some people find comfort in inaction. Comfortably seated in the armchair of laissez-faire, they are content to wait until things settle down and all becomes the best in the best of worlds.

Result: Three parts of the St. Lawrence are inactive, work on Expo is inactive, threatened with a serious delay, the economy of Montreal is hit, cargo not aboard ships. And Ottawa, the news items say, "does not yet intend to intervene." The devil! What is Ottawa waiting for?

The see-saw ball game has continued since May 9 and the most distressing thing is the indifference of almost everyone. Who is protesting? No one. The shipowners and the longshoremen for almost two years have been examining the problems, very complex it is true. But how do you explain the fact that they waited for the opening of navigation to become aware of their urgency and gravity? If they had wanted to do just that, they could not have succeeded better.

Then when three shipping companies of Quebec—no matter how little geography a person knows, he must know these parts link our country to the rest of the world—are totally immobilized, the fact is coldly seen, not the least clamor is raised, the losses and the damage accumulated, but they let the problem drift with the current.

Let us forget Quebec City and Trois-Rivières for the moment. In Montreal, the civic administration owes it to itself to act without delay. The chamber of commerce and the board of trade have an identical obligation, and this is not limited to a banal telegram deploring the situation.

A delegation, large in number and powerful, must go to the capital to tell whoever is concerned that our port is at a standstill and that there is deterioration.

Our port is about to give itself a deplorable reputation. The blustering of some, the inaction of others, the diplomatic subtleties of the authorities, the fear of being too severe and the laxity of the leaders are about to create an intolerable climate.

A government which delays, discusses, listens to this one and then to that one while all is steadily still the length of the St. Lawrence, this is a government which does not govern. Draw your own conclusions. —Roger Champoux (June 1)

Trois-Rivières Le Nouvelliste—Where does the truth lie in the matter of fraudulent bankruptcies? Fraud has always existed in the business world. The fact it has progressed by leaps and bounds during the last two or three decades is self-evident, but its extent has not yet been determined.

How serious is the fraud and what is its repercussion in the business world? No answer has yet been given. The situation remains confused. And it is not without reason that many businessmen's associations which demand a royal commission inquiry into fraudulent bankruptcies in Canada.

It is still the Canadian Lumber Dealers' Association which insists most vigorously on an inquiry capable of finding and draining the abuses. Through the voice of Jacques LeBlanc, president of the Quebec Federation of Businessmen's Associations, the lumber dealers' association says that "fraudulent bankruptcies cost Canadian businessmen a half billion dollars in 1965." According to the same report, the business world is not the only one to be hit by bankruptcies. It is said tax revenue lost totals at least $150,000,000.

Mr. LeBlanc says the government will have to seek this lost revenue in the pockets of the man in the street while certain chiefs of the underworld, disguised as honest financiers or industrialists, seem to control the destinies of the country.

The statements of the president of the federation of businessmen's associations have an all-inclusive character which leaves few skeptics. Perhaps he used this tactic to impress public opinion.

But the fact remains that the abuses exist, that fraud constitutes a criminal industry the ramifications of which cover the whole country and even cross our borders. In millions of dollars, it represents much more than armed robberies. —Hector Horeux (June 4)

LOOKING BACK WITH OLD STAGER

Bloody Murder Aboard Tonquin

FOURTH IN SERIES

By ART GRAY

The following day the offender was brought to the ship and delivered up. The captain ordered him stripped and laid up, but did not flog him. He was dismissed, and the chiefs were also liberated, and left the ship, refusing with disdain, a present offered them, and vowing vengeance on the whites for the injury received.

Next day not an Indian came to the ship, but in the afternoon an old chief sent for Mackay and myself to go to his lodge. We did so, and were kindly treated. Mr. Mackay was a great favorite among the Indians and I have not doubted that the plot to destroy the ship was fully arranged. It was intended to save Mackay's life in the general massacre, if possible.

When ashore we saw the chiefs and they seemed in good humor, and asked if the captain was still angry. On being assured that they would be well received if they went on board, they appeared eagerly pleased and promised to do and trade the next day. Mr. Mackay returned to the ship, but I remained on shore until the next day.

GLOOMY MOOD

When I got aboard Mr. Mackay was waiting between decks and forwards on deck, in a rather gloomy mood, and excited. He and the captain had some angry words regarding the two chiefs that had been kept on board. When I got on deck he called to me, "Well, are the Indians coming to trade today?" I said they were, and he said "I am afraid there is an undercurrent at work. After the captain's late conduct to the chiefs I do not like so sudden a change."

There is treachery in the case, or they differ from all other Indians I ever knew. I have told the captain so—I have also suggested that all hands should be on the alert when the Indians are here, but he ridicules the suggestion. So let him have his own way!

"He asked me my opinion. I told him it would be well to let me go to the captain, and I have the setting up. He then went before I could speak he called out 'Well, Kas, are the Indians coming today?' I said I thought so. He then asked 'Are the chiefs in a good humor yet?'"

BETTER HUMOR

I said I never saw them in better humor. I humbled the fellows a little, they won't be so easy now, and we will get on much better!" said the captain. At this moment Mackay joined us and repeated to me the captain's laughter. "You pretend to know a great deal about the Indians' character, you know nothing at all!"

"Mr. Mackay's anxiety was increased by the captain's attitude, and having a presentiment of what was brooding amongst the Indians, put two pistols in his pockets and sat down on the larboard side of the quarterdeck."

A short time afterwards the Indians began to talk about the ship, both men and women in great crowds, with their fur. It was surmised that the captain did not put the netting up. "It was the first time that I ever saw a ship trade there without that precaution. The captain, wishing no doubt to atone for the insult he had offered the chiefs previously, went from one extreme to the other, admitting them on board without reserve, or the usual precautions."

KNIVES HIDDEN

"The trading was brisk, and at the captain's own prices. One of the men afoot noticed the Indians had knives under their shirts, and warned the captain of it, but he received the advice with a smile of contempt. A moment afterwards the captain began to suspect something himself, and was in the act of calling to Mr. Mackay, when the Indians raised the hideous yell of death, which echoed from stem to stern.

"The women in the canoes immediately pushed off from the ship, and the massacre began. The conflict was bloody and short. Mackay was the first man to fall. He shot one Indian, but was instantly killed and thrown overboard. The savages with their naked knives and horrid yells rushed on the defenceless whites, who were dispersed over the ship. KILLED TWO

"The captain drew a clasp knife with which he killed two and wounded seven before he fell dead. The last man I saw alive was Stephen Weeks, the armorer. In the midst of the carnage, I jumped overboard, as did several other Indians, and we were taken up by the women in the canoes, who were yelling, whooping and crying like so many fiends.

"Before I had got two gun shots worth from the ship, one 10 minutes after I had left her, she blew up in the air with a fearful explosion, flinging the whole place with fragments and mutilated bodies. The night was terrifying and overwhelming.

"Weeks must have been the man that blew up the ship, and by that act of revenge its Indians perished. The fatal catastrophe spread desolation, lamentation and terror throughout the whole tribe. Scarcely anything belonging to the ship was saved, and the effect was so terrifying that when two ships passed by soon after, not an Indian would venture near them."

"I knew the Tonquin belonged to the whites at Columbia. I was 18 days aboard her. I would have started long ago with the loading of her cargo, but, being sick, was prevented from coming sooner. There may have been 24 days from the time the Tonquin left the Columbia until her destruction."

STORY OF KASASKIAH

Thus ended the sad and tragic story of Kasaskiah. Many stories have been written, varying in many details, and giving credit to others of the crew for blowing up the ship. One account says that four sailors escaped, after setting a fuse to blow up the ship, but were captured and tortured to death. Washington Irving, in his book Astoria, credits a certain Lewis with firing a shot into the powder magazine, blowing up the ship.

Kasaskiah became somewhat discredited later, other Indians alleging that he took part in the massacre. He was also suspected of an attempt to seize Astoria, with a band of renegade Indians.

Anyway, it was a good story he told, and as nobody survived to tell the truth, who is there to dispute the truth of his story?

CANADA'S STORY

Prairie Settlers Formed Government

By BOB BOWMAN

Although Manitoba did not become a province until 1870, when Saskatchewan and Alberta came into the government of the Northwest Territories, the agitation for a strong central government began 10 years earlier. Until then the Hudson's Bay Company administered the territory, but its monopoly was broken by American development south of the border. Instead of trade flowing into the area by the Hudson Bay route, it was using the railway to St. Paul and then by carts and river boats to what is now Winnipeg. It was obvious that the Hudson's Bay Company could not control the situation any longer.

The new settlers in the west were always in danger from the Indians, particularly the Sioux, who had been driven from Minnesota after the massacre of 1862. They were in desperate straits.

The Americans had their agents in the country, looking for opportunities to take it over. There was also a "Canada Party" led by Dr. John Christian Schultz, a rough character. It was working for union with Canada.

Some of the communities on the prairies formed their own local governments. One of them was formed at Big Lake by the famous Roman Catholic missionary Father Lacombe. In later years he was elected president of the CPM for one hour in honor of his services.

The most constructive step leading to Canada taking over the prairies probably took place on June 11, 1863 when a public meeting was held at St. James. It was agreed that no taxes would be paid until the British government had taken over the area. In the meantime, it was decided to set up a provisional government with an elective council. There was an amusing incident later on when Thomas Spence was elected to the council. He set up what he called the "Republic of Cheltenham" with Potlatch as its capital. The "Republic" came to an abrupt end when Spence tried to collect taxes and arrested an unwilling contributor. Neighbors came to rescue the arrested man. Spence resigned in a hurry when shooting began.

DR. SHEPPARD AND WIFE

Replay Of Sheppard's Trial Will Have Slight Changes

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—By what it called a replay of the 1954 Sheppard murder trial will be conducted, a fair trial, probably in the fall. But there will be some basic differences in the second trial.

The decision to bring Samuel H. Sheppard to trial again was announced Friday by a Cuyahoga County prosecutor, John T. Corrigan, who spent most of the week studying Monday's U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

The Supreme Court ruled that Sheppard did not receive a fair trial in 1954 when he was convicted of second-degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment in the bludgeoning death of his first wife, Marilyn.

A carnival atmosphere reigned during the trial, the Supreme Court said, and it criticized the trial judge, the late Edward

Foreign Investors And Chile Ready For Gamble In Millions

SANTIAGO (AP)—Foreign investors and the Chilean government are preparing to gamble up to $500,000,000 on the health of the world's copper industry and the economic and political stability of Chile.

They will know in five years whether they have won the bet.

In the meantime, $420,000,000 to $500,000,000 is to be poured into expansion and development projects aimed at giving Chile an annual production of 1,200,000 tons of copper, approximately double the current output. That would move Chile past Zambia into second place behind the United States among Western copper producers.

The money is to come from the Anaconda, Cerro and Kennecott companies, the Rothschild interests of France and the Chilean government. Most of the government funds will be borrowed from international agencies.

Government and company officials describe the project as a gamble, on several counts:

—It assumes that neither the 1960 parliamentary elections nor the 1970 presidential elections will vote out the moderate leftist Christian Democrat regime now in power and choose a Marxist or other extremist government.

—It assumes that engineering and construction skills and machinery can be massed on a scale perhaps unseen in Latin America since the construction of the Panama Canal.

—It assumes that demand and prices for copper will remain high, despite inroads made by such copper substitutes as aluminum and plastic, and despite completion of large-scale expansion programs in Canada, Africa, Australia and the United States.

Neither the companies nor the government see a serious likelihood of the Marxists taking

Atlantic High-Flying Jets Back to 120-Mile Spacing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Canada, Britain and the United States agreed to go back today to the old rule requiring 120-mile separation between the flight paths of planes flying the Atlantic at high altitude.

Some aviation interests—notably pilots—have been critical of the reduction to 90 miles which had been in effect since February. They called it a safety hazard and some chose to fly below 20,000 feet where the 120-mile rule still was in effect.

The Federal Aviation Agency of the U.S. in announcing today's agreement among the three traffic control administrations, disputed the safety complaint. It said the main reason for going back to the old rule for high altitude was the worst and most complex created by the differing regulations for different levels, and by the differences between domestic and oceanic altitudes for eastbound planes that chose not to fly in the 90-mile separation zone over the ocean.

Canadian Discrimination Claimed Against Scotch

LONDON (CP)—A leading figure in the Scotch whisky industry complains today about what he terms continuing Canadian discrimination against imported whisky, despite a federal measure introduced last year aimed at easing the problem.

The real trouble lies at provincial government level, writes P. J. Woodhouse, secretary of the Scotch Whisky Association, in a letter to The Financial Times.

"The provincial governments who are the sole importers and sellers of spirits, levy at varying degrees what amounts to a provincial tariff by imposing a considerably greater percentage profit mark-up on imported spirits than on domestically produced spirits," writes Woodhouse.

"This practice, which is not against the spirit of GATT (General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade) is certainly against the spirit of that treaty, has been the subject of representations by the British government and this association for at least 15 years."

Woodhouse says one of two provinces have to some extent met these representations, but the "larger and more prosperous provinces have done little, if anything, to remove the discrimination. In some cases it has been increased."

In his letter Woodhouse refers to a May 30 report of a speech by Revenue Minister E. J. Benson saying the 1965 measure to ease the effect of Canada's anti-dumping laws had not been given a fair chance to operate by British exporters.

U.S. Renews Offer To Britain To Keep Her In Space Race

LONDON (AP)—The United States today renewed an offer of technical co-operation in space in hopes of keeping Britain in the space race with its European partners.

State Secretary Dean Rusk of the U.S. brought up the standing offer in talks with Prime Minister Wilson in a stopover here en route home from the NATO meeting in Brussels, which he also discussed with Wilson.

U.S. officials have not concealed their disappointment at Britain's decision to pull out of the European Launcher Development Organization. The British feel their 40-per-cent share of cost—about $40,000,000 a year—of putting a European satellite by 1970 is too heavy for the country's shaky economy.

But Washington, reflecting the complaints from Britain's partners in ELDO, feel that if Britain drops out of the European space race it will harm Britain's chances for entering the European Common Market (Australia and five Common Market countries—France, West Germany, Italy, The Netherlands and Belgium—are members of ELDO).

Defence Department Studies 'Complaints From Services'

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Hellyer said today the defence department is giving urgent study to service complaints in hopes of ironing out many of them by the time new pay rates go into effect Oct. 1.

He told the defence committee that pay and allowances appears to be the most important factor in service complaints on the basis of a number of studies.

Others included pay disparities between services and jobs for men of comparable rank, education and housing and lower remuneration in comparison with civilian jobs.

Douglas Harkness, former Conservative defence minister, said Mr. Hellyer's analysis is an admission that service morale is at a low ebb as opposition spokesmen have maintained for months.

He called for priority study of service morale by the Commons defence committee where Mr. Hellyer appeared as a witness.

Mr. Hellyer disagreed, maintaining that morale of operational units is as high or higher than ever. He challenged the theory that unrest in the services is an effect of integration.

SAYS CAREERS UNCERTAIN
Marcel Lambert (PC—Edmonton West) said many service retirements are not—as Mr. Hellyer maintains, due to a buoyant economy. There was a feeling of uneasiness and uncertainty about future careers in the services.

Mr. Hellyer replied that the buoyancy of the economy is a strong factor in retirements. In some cases there was a feeling of uncertainty but retirements were prompted more by the other problems he had listed.

There hadn't been a future

NOTICE

Persons wishing oil applications on City lanes for Dust Lay purposes should make application to the Engineering Office on or before June 17th, 1966, in accordance with City policy as follows:

"Such applications must provide for a continuous minimum length of Three Hundred (300) feet, except when the total length of the lane is less than 300 feet, in which case the total length of the lane must be covered by the application.

Each application must be accompanied by a remittance to pay for the material at the rate of Ten (10¢) Cents per linear foot of dust lay."

It should be noted that this application is for a dust lay surface treatment only and the resulting surface is not a permanent pavement and is not therefore guaranteed in any way, and that the City reserves the right to carry out whatever surface maintenance procedures are deemed necessary by the Engineering Department.

Further information may be obtained from the Engineering Office, City of Kelowna, 1135 Water Street.

AROUND TOWN

Wives of the many delegates home on Casorso Place this weekend attended the Canadian Union of Year.

Public Employees Convention being held this weekend at the Capri Motel Hotel are receiving the usual royal quota of Kelowna hospitality.

On Friday afternoon the ladies were taken on a scenic bus tour of Kelowna and district, stopping en route for a tea party at the El Dorado Arms Hotel, and in the evening they joined the men to enjoy an Okanagan Fish Fry in the Capri gardens.

Saturday afternoon the ladies enjoyed a sherry party as they watched a parade of models showing the highlights of Hawaiian Fashion. The charming local fashion models included Donna Young, Irene Adams, Betty Corell and Stephanie Pacha, and the commentator was June Chubb of the Grass Shave.

Saturday evening they attended the banquet, preceded by a poolside cocktail party at Capri and followed by an evening of dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Moore from Nelson, with Duanna and Geoffrey, have been the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Moore, during the past week.

Mrs. K. D. Claxton of South Burnaby and her two children, Stacie and Danny, are arriving this weekend to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ian Collinson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Hillier have moved to their new home on Mountain Ave., Glenora.

A delightful post-wedding shower was held at the home of Mrs. Harold Long on Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Lorraine Taylor, the former Lorraine Taylor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Newby. Co-hostesses at the miscellaneous shower were Mrs. Long and Mrs. George Condit, and the many lovely and useful gifts were presented on a table.

Following the confirmation service and mass a reception was held and supper for the Bishop, priests and children and their sponsors given by the CWL and convoked by Mrs. H. Welsh.

Those confirmed were Jane Betuzzi, Donna Dickson, Susan Meno, Diane Petretta, Tim Gault, Jerry Moser, Neil Scrivner, Josephine and Tommy Stump.

CWL MEETING OF THE CWL meeting of the CWL to Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Westbank, was held recently at the home of Mrs. M. Ziegler. Father Guinan was in charge of the installation ceremonies for the new executive, with Mrs. H. Welsh as the new president.

Mrs. M. Ziegler, first vice-president, Mrs. E. J. Gault, second vice-president, Mrs. E. Schell, secretary, Mrs. Peter Calisti, treasurer.

Mrs. P. Gutenberg gave the highlights of the CWL convention held at Creston. The CWL Centennial project was explained to members, this being 10 cents donation each month from every CWL member towards a fund for reference books for Notre Dame University.

Summer school will be held from July 4-10. There will be no further CWL meetings during the summer recess, until September.

Grand Master IOOF Of B.C. Enjoys Official Visit

On Tuesday, June 7, a group of about 65 Rebekah, Odd Fellows, visitors and friends met at the IOOF Hall, Richter St. for a delicious Pot Luck Supper provided by the Sisters of Kelowna Rebekah Lodge No. 28. This was held to welcome and honor Brother Parker H. MacDougall, Grand Master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of British Columbia on his official visit to the Lodge in Kelowna.

The Grand Master, Brother Parker H. MacDougall, his traveling companion, Brother Alfred Zirk, past Deputy Commander of the Patriarchal Militant branch of the Order, and Brother Aubrey McLean, DDGM of District No. 26 were piped into the Hall by Piper Archie Duke dressed in the uniform of the Oxford Pipe Band. Mr. Duke is a newcomer to Kelowna and plays the Pipes in the Kelowna Legion Band.

Brother William Whitehead acted as chairman and introduced the distinguished visitors. A visitor in whom the Lodge is very interested, Hugh Dandy, is the student who won the trip to the United Nations in New York this summer, sponsored by the Rebekah and Odd Fellow Lodges in the Valley. Sister Hope Allen, Noble Grand of Kelowna Rebekah Lodge No. 28, presented Mr. Dandy with a cheque from the Rebekah Lodge, and William Johnston, PGM, chairman.

ABBEY UPDATED LONDON (CP)—Wardens at Westminster Abbey, overwhelmed by thousands of tourists coming to see the historic church celebrate its 900th anniversary this year, are resorting to modern technology to silence the pilgrims. As nearby Big Ben chimes on the Parliament clock tower, a warden announces hourly prayers by whispering reverently into a public address system.

AN INTERESTING SIDE LIGHT to the evening came when Brother Fred Smallshaw, who was celebrating his birthday, was piped to the centre of the floor by Piper Archie Duke and Happy Birthday was sung for him.

After the supper party distributed, Orchard City Lodge No. 28, Brother Fred Tutl thanked the Sisters of Kelowna Rebekah Lodge No. 28 for the lovely supper they had provided.

Home Economist Is Popular Visitor In The Okanagan

By FLORA EVANS Women's Editor

One of Kelowna's most popular visitors has returned to the Valley this week for the fourth time. She is Dot West—one of the three "Dot Wests" who travel across Western Canada representing Westfair Food's Counselling Service.

On her last visit here B.C.'s Dot West held a cooking school in the Kelowna Aquatic and gave lessons at Pentickon and Vernon. The response and number of letters she received was so large and enthusiastic that she presented an hour's cooking lesson on TV this trip in order to reach more people throughout the Valley at one time. On Friday she made in-store visits to the retailers handling the Westfair Foods.

I asked Mrs. West what this counselling service was all about, and was surprised to learn that it is a free service to Mrs. Homemaker, which not only comprises cooking lessons and in-store appearances but lectures to women's groups, the judging of bake sales and, among many other things, a mailing service which offers advice to Mrs. Homemaker on any problem great or small connected with her home.

Also available free by writing to Dot West, Home Economist, P.O. Box 4800, Vancouver 3, are a number of interesting recipe booklets such as "Meat Makes the Meal", "Recipes From Many Lands", "Pleasing the Sweet Tooth" and many others.

DOT WEST AIDS MRS. HOMEMAKER

Mrs. Homemaker, says Dot West, spends 25 per cent of her time in answering them, so do budget on food, and this money should be spent wisely and economically. Home economists are trained in budgeting the dollar and retailers too should assist the homemaker in every possible way.

An attractive woman with a family of her own, Mrs. West loves her work and is proud of the hundreds of friends she feels that she has accumulated in her travels. When she talks of the many letters she receives it is with warmth and interest, and I would say that the more difficult the questions asked her

ANN LANDERS

Invest Patience, Love And Time In Children

Dear Ann Landers: May I be you for just a few minutes? I have something to say to the parents of America and there is no better vehicle than your column.

Parents: Do you want your child to be tense, insecure, unable to make decisions, defeated before he starts? Do you want him to be lonely and resentful and keep his feelings buried inside? If you do, follow these suggestions:

Criticize him several times every day—preferably before an audience. Belittle his efforts, tell him to shut up when he tries to speak, shrug off his comments as dumb and unimportant. Make fun of him for asking stupid questions.

If there is an older brother or sister who is exceptionally bright or talented, make frequent comparisons and ask him why he can't do as well. If there happens to be a prettier girl or a handsomer boy in the family, make a big fuss over his or her looks.

On the other hand, if you want your child to have self-confidence and leadership qualities—if you want him to be co-operative and friendly, praise him a little every day. But be sure the praise is sincere because he will know if it isn't.

Listen to him when he speaks. If he does something wrong let him know you forgive him and that you know next time he will do better. He will try his darnedest not to let you down if he feels you have faith in him.

Have you ever wondered why your child behaves differently with others than he does with you? How many times have you heard a parent say, "He is so pleasant when he is with the Joneses, but at home we can't get a civil word out of him."

Children react the way they are treated. What your children are depending on is what you are willing to invest in terms of patience, time and love. — INDIANAPOLIS

Dear Indianapolis: You have condensed in a few paragraphs the fundamental principles for rearing children. Thank you for being me. I couldn't have said it so well.

Dear Ann Landers: I enjoyed your answer to the young wife who was distressed because her husband was having a difficult time finding a job but refused to shave his beard even though some employers offered to hire him if he shaved.

This item appeared in the Montreal Star recently. A few years ago one of the best criminal lawyers in town selected a bright young man, one of his students at McGill University, to join his law firm when he had completed his year's study abroad. The young man returned with a beard. The attorney looked him over at some length the morning he reported for work. "Young man," he said, at last, "I have no objection to that beard. Just don't wear it during office hours."

MRS. F.B.W. Dear Mrs. F.B.W.: The attorney dealt with the situation wisely. It's amazing how a little humor can take the edge off what might be a cutting response. Thanks for sharing.

Confidential to NO MEDAL FOR ME: Were you expecting someone? When you married the man you knew about his "crazy" religion, limited education, poor health, terrible temper, and interable ex-wife. If you have managed to get four wonderful children out of this marriage, consider yourself fortunate and make the best of it.

MISS BUDWEISER . . . ANOTHER UNLIMITED ENTRY

British Columbia Cup Top Centennial Event

Kelowna is designated to be the site of an unlimited hydroplane race July 17 that is one of only 10 in the world.

The race has come after more than a full year of preparation and many hundreds of man hours on the behalf of the Kelowna Boat Racing Association, a group organized specially for the races.

It all started about four years ago, when Ron Munson, driver of an unlimited hydroplane for the Hardahl company, suggested Kelowna was an ideal location for one of the rare races. Some interested citizens in Kelowna looked into the possibilities, but decided at that time Kelowna was not ready for such a large event. The idea was set aside for the time being, but not forgotten.

CITY READY

In 1963, Victor Hay, of the Hardahl company, was in Kelowna. He contacted some people and again suggested a race be held. The people originally interested in the event looked into the possibilities of a race and decided this time Kelowna was ready.

They got a group of people together and Mayor R. F. Parkinson called a meeting to discuss the idea. People present at the meeting decided to send Roger Cottle of Kelowna to Long Beach, Calif., to attend the annual meeting of the American Power Boat Association.

He told them of the idea and, much to his surprise, found the preparations necessary for the race were not so extensive as the Kelowna people had considered. The American association was greatly in favor of the event and gave Mr. Cottle a tentative date of July 17, 1966, for the race.

STARTED PLANNING

Mr. Cottle returned to Kelowna with the good news and this started the ball rolling.

The group got together and called a general meeting. About 40 members attended and the Kelowna Boat Racing Association was formed, with a 10-man directorate.

The association's first official act was to submit an application for APBA sanction of the race, as the American group controls all unlimited hydroplane racing.

Unlimited hydroplane racing means no restrictions are placed on the size or power of the boats, except they must be gasoline powered by a conventional four cycle engine.

Shortly afterward, the association contacted the Kelowna group and said the application had been approved.

$50,000 BUDGET

Financial advisors of the Kelowna association estimated a budget of about $50,000 would be needed to sponsor the race. However, the group did not have $50,000. It was obvious the money would have to come from somewhere else.

The directorate contacted the Canadian Confederation Centenary Committee of B.C. and asked it for a grant. The committee agreed to provide $20,000 for the budget, providing the Kelowna group could match it with another $30,000. The only stipulation was the race would be called the British Columbia Cup unlimited hydroplane race.

Then, the Kelowna Boat Racing Association contacted Inland Natural Gas and asked the company if it would help sponsor the event. The company directors decided to set aside $10,000 to help the race. This was with "no strings attached."

This left the association with a remainder of $20,000 to raise to meet the budget and the directors decided this could be done through various functions at the time of the race.

Service organizations were contacted and agreed to erect concession booths near the pit area, turning over all proceeds to the association. The Associated Canadian Travellers agreed to sell "booster buttons," depleting the event, in Penikese, Vernon and Kelowna. More than 15,000 buttons were ordered and a profit of about 60 cents a button is expected.

After financial plans were completed, the association had to decide upon a pit area, where large boats could be moored and mechanical facilities made available. It was decided the area between the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways docks, near the seaplane base would be best, as it was near the proposed course.

MUCH WORK

Architects were contacted and after much work with regulations and lake studies, decided the course should be two and a half miles long and be situated in front of the Aquatic, running north past the S. M. Simpson sawmill.

Due to the large size of the boats, which range up to more than 30 feet in length and weigh up to five tons, the pit area will have to be deepened and mooring facilities installed.

City council and the boating association decided to jointly undertake the construction of a low sea wall in front of the area and dredging operations to make the water deeper near the shore line. After the race, pit facilities may be used for private boating.

During the race, and in the days prior to it, no people will be allowed in the pit area unless they are accompanied by race officials.

CRANES NEEDED

In order to put the boats in the water, the boating association is attempting to obtain five large cranes, capable of lifting up to 20 tons. The cranes will lift the boats directly from their trailers into the water.

In order to have both participants and spectators for the race, it had to be widely publicized. This was done both through "word of mouth" in American power boating circles and through the distribution of 20,000 pamphlets advertising the race and the Kelowna Regatta.

Of only 24 unlimited hydroplanes in the world, the race is expected to draw between 14 and 18. The drivers will be participating for $15,000 in prize money and for the British Columbia Cup, which is being designed by silversmiths especially for the race.

SEVERAL CONFIRMED

Roger Cottle, in charge of the race, said recently there have already been several crews confirm the fact they will attend the race and "quite a few more" are expected.

The boats and their drivers will come to Kelowna directly from the Gold Cup race on the Detroit River.

They will start practicing on July 13 and will practice right up to the time of the race. While practicing, only one boat at a time will be allowed on the lake. The drivers will have to schedule their practice runs according to a plan.

From 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the practicing days, there will be breaks in the practice time to allow private boaters to enter or leave the yacht club basin.

Adults Should Advise Kids Before Turning Over Reins

Kids can't drive a car or fly an airplane. But, behind the wheel of an outboard boat headed for the open water, they can be captains of all they survey—provided the senior captain is in hand to supervise.

Experienced hands should always be at the wheel when a boat is operated in crowded quarters such as narrow channels, boat basins or waterways crowded with other boats. However, on the open water of a wide river or lake, the youngsters can be allowed to take the wheel and handle the throttle with proper adult supervision.

How old need they be? It all depends upon how well they understand the handling characteristics of the boat and how much responsibility they can assume. Even the very young can be allowed to sit on the skipper's lap and handle the wheel, while most any youngster of 10 years or older can handle the boat by himself.

Common sense should indicate the limitations. The skipper can always exercise a restraining hand on the throttle if the young captain gets overly ambitious with the speed, or he can always lead a hand and give advice on proper steering.

Even though he may be under supervision when piloting the family boat, the youngster will have the feel of controlling a power-driven vehicle.

Proper safety and courtesy habits should be developed early. The youngster allowed to be the pilot occasionally will grow up to be a safe boatman, respectful of the rights of others and courteous to all with whom he shares the waterways. As usual, proper safety precautions should always be taken with youngsters aboard. Each youngster should be fitted with a life jacket; schooled in the "Rules of the Road" and taught basic boating courtesy.

The outboard motor has made captains out of kids, offering them a thrill never before experienced. And these early thrills pay the added dividend of safety education which will stand the young captain in good stead when he becomes the captain of his own boat in years to come. With proper training now, a generation of safe boaters can be developed for the years ahead, when the waterways are certain to become even more crowded.

Many Good Buys In Used Motors

If your enthusiasm for more power is waterlogged by budget problems, a good used motor may get you afloat.

In a recent study some dealers reported that a third of their new outboard motor sales include trade-ins of motors less than two years old. The buyers were "trading up" to a bigger boat and motor.

Check the used motor for a nose or crooked shaft. It may have been damaged in an accident. Nickel propeller blades also indicate hard use.

Also look for worn control knobs, loose fittings and frayed pull and steering lines.

Turn the flywheel to test compression. If it turns easily, the motor may need an overhaul. Run the motor at three-quarter throttle and listen for knocks and rattles. Finally, take it for a demonstration spin.

MOVE TO NEW BASE
PRESTWICK (AP)—The U.S. Air Force announced Tuesday it is moving its 67th Air Rescue Recovery Squadron from its Scottish base in Prestwick to Moron base in Spain but denied new British landing fees prompted the move. The announcement said the speed and range of the HC-130 air rescue craft would enable them to be used to better advantage in recovery operations if based in Spain.

Cleaning Closets Important Chore

By ELEANOR BOND

Look at how carefully we select our beautiful new dresses, suits and costumes. Now what happens to them when they are not being worn? How is that closet they go into when we take them off?

COMPLETE OVERHAUL

Closets are an important part of a home. It is a wise move to do a complete overhaul of the closet twice a year.

Strip the closet down to its "bare bones." Then when all that's left is the "skeleton," wash the walls, shelves and floor with a sponge cleaner and water. This is done not only to get rid of dirt, but to make the closet smell sweet and clean.

Whatever is missing in closet accessories can be filled in from the wide variety of closet items on the market. Among the many attractive aids to a neat and orderly place to hang clothes are garment bags, of fabric or plastic, that you can see through or not as you prefer. In addition, there are see-through hat boxes, hanging shoe shelves, belt racks, handbag files, and the like.

Don't buy haphazardly. Work out a scheme or pattern of how you want your closet to look, then make your selections.

Of course, the closet has to be made mothproof and it must be deodorized. This can be done all at once with a refreshing pine deodorizer.

If more than one member of the family has to share a closet, avoid friction by using dividers. These can be shirt hangers or garment bags to mark off the sections of the closet. If it is a "his" and "her" arrangement, the dividing line can easily be made clear.

Those fortunate enough to have a closet all to themselves can take advantage of the space by simple organization. Put the short garments on one side, long ones on the other.

DECISION TO MAKE

However, before putting any garments back after the closet "clean-out," go over everything carefully. New and recent purchases, of course, present no problem as to what should be kept. But almost all of us have had clothes hanging in the closet that we haven't worn for two or three years. If they are still in good condition, they will surely be of use to someone somewhere.

The Salvation Army, Goodwill Industries and similar organizations, as well as local community groups and houses of worship would be glad to receive surplus clothing for use in this country or abroad.

You will have some good luck in giving them away and the clothes you keep will be better off with the extra space to hang without crowding and crumpling.

Removing Wires, Poles Job For Mayors, Reeves

VANCOUVER (CP)—A top federal housing official told Canadian mayors and reeves today it is up to them to tackle the ugly urban quilt of wires, poles and sprawling dumps.

Urban renewal alone will not restore beauty to cities and towns, Jean Lapin, vice-president of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., told the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

He named electric and telephone wires, abandoned quarries, auto graveyards, proliferating billboards, and "sagging, dilapidated hand-made signs" as part of the "monstrous desecration" that must be corrected.

"We have all seen and have been outraged by the products of neglect, negligence, irresponsibility, lack of planning and adequate controls and a don't-give-a-damn attitude," he said.

Mr. Lapin said the cure lies in planning, not in major spending.

Wet Boxes In 'Dry' Basement Creates Puzzle For Reader

QUESTION: We patched part of our basement and covered the floor with tile. Recently we had occasion to pick up some paper boxes standing on this floor and found they were wet. What would cause this? There seems to be no water leaking in anywhere. What should we do about this?

ANSWER: No matter how dry a basement seems, there is a certain amount of dampness present, caused by imperceptible seepage or condensation. For this reason storage of items subject to mildew or moisture damage is not recommended in general, adequate air circulation and ventilation should be provided. Keep cellar windows open as much as possible on clear, dry days. If the air seems excessively damp, and there is no water seepage through walls or floor, an electric dehumidifier will help.

WINDOW PUTTY DRIES OUT

QUESTION: I have a problem with putty I use on my windows. Soon after I reputty a window, the putty dries and cracks and pieces fall off. The frames are wood, not metal. How can I correct this?

ANSWER: The usual reason for putty failure on wood windows is that the putty is applied on very dry wood. Such wood draws the oils out of the putty before it has a chance to harden. The wood should first be given a soaking coat of linseed oil, or a thin coat of paint. If paint is used, allow it to dry before putting. Any standard brand of putty will be satisfactory.

Mr. Lapin said that in the last 18 months under provisions of the National Housing Act 26 communities began receiving grants to prepare 33 renewal schemes.

Last year 21 grants were made for urban renewal studies.

Text of Mr. Lapin's address was released to the press in advance of delivery.

GOLDEN TEXT: James 4:17

Satirical Musical Revue Attacks Church Attitudes

A satirical musical revue called "For Heaven's Sake" is being staged at the Kelowna Community Theatre June 12.

The revue uses satire, expressed in the words, music and dance of contemporary musical theatre, to attack complacency and self-centredness.

The attack on prevailing attitudes and standards in the church and secular world is staged by 22 University of Kelowna students.

The show is sponsored here by the United Churches of Kelowna and district.

The university students, mostly members of the UBC Club, are directed by Len Lythgoe. Mr. Lythgoe has been director of the club for the past two years. He was minister of Kelowna United Church in 1964-65.

"For Heaven's Sake" was first written for and produced at the North American Ecumenical Youth Assembly held at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor in 1961.

It is a product of the closing years of the Eisenhower era in the U.S., during which, as one commentator puts it, "it became painfully clear the nation fell into an eight year sleep."

Lythgoe said he just wanted to assure us that everything was OK which he did, and we rolled over and went back to sleep.

In 1966 there are signs the church and the world are waking up but the UBC company says there is enough complacency and self-centredness left to justify a satirical attack on the church.

"For Heaven's Sake" is a group of 22 students, starting from the subjects of the Bible and the language it uses.

But the underlying theology is conservative and the satire is not likely to give initial offense by their picturesque language and imagery, such as "Gimme God Blues," are among the more serious in content.

A cast of 12, plus 10 supporting people, will put on the production.

Churches Deal With Changes

TORONTO (CP) — Churches must be prepared to deal with the problems caused by automation and the subsequent movement of population, the retiring generation of the Presbyterian Church in Canada said Friday night.

Rev. J. Alan Munro told the Church's General Assembly that a Canadian town with a population of 30,000 and a semi-industrialized economy will undergo a 65-per-cent turnover in residents in 15 years.

He said the turnover can be partially blamed on the fact that jobs are disappearing rapidly. The same town will experience a 100-per-cent changeover in its unskilled labor force.

"With the bomb on the one hand, and affluence on the other, the threat to the faith was never greater."

In the face of such conditions, he said, it was heart-breaking that so many places were vacant in the church's missions both at home and abroad.

To recruit the necessary clergy for the church's tasks, Dr. Munro called for a two-year theology course for university students, who could then become fully-ordained ministers.

A. J. Gouland, secretary of the evangelism and social action board, told the group that it would have to consider the plight of "organized labor," of the men who see their jobs threatened and wonder what they are going to do.

Automation is only one of a large number of social problems which are rapidly becoming urgent, he said.

The principals of Toronto's Ewart College and Montreal's Presbyterian College both said they are alarmed at the shrinking number of new recruits to church work.

To help combat the situation, the assembly authorized Ewart College to begin inquiries directed towards its becoming a degree-granting institution within the federated University of Toronto.

Many Seminaries For United Church

WATERLOO (CP) — The United Church of Canada has too many seminaries and no one seems to be doing anything about it, the principal of Emmanuel Theological School, Toronto, said Wednesday.

Dr. Earl Lautenschlager told delegates to the Hamilton conference of the United Church that a new attempt is being made now to amalgamate seminaries and give the church a greater number of staff, books and students.

With a great enough number, he said, the students could educate themselves through an exchange of ideas.

He told delegates, meeting at the University of Waterloo, that it is a well-known fact there are too few seminary students.

In an earlier address, Dr. E. E. Hallman of Kitchener, superintendent of the Canada Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, said studies of the United Church show there is no great difference in doctrines between the two denominations.

Christ's Ambassadors Choir Performs Sunday In Kelowna

A unique group will appear at the Evangelical Tabernacle, 1448 Berram St., Sunday at 11:00 a.m.

The group is known as the Northwest District Christ's Ambassadors Choir and consists of 38 young people from churches throughout Washington and Northern Idaho.

"Christ's Ambassadors" is the name of the national youth organization of the Assembly of the Church with headquarters in Springfield, Missouri.

The choir is on tour from Washington State to Alaska where it will be featured in the Bi-Annual Alaska Conference of the Assembly of God, June 17-19.

They are also giving concerts in churches and auditoriums in a number of Alaskan and British Columbia cities.

The service here will include a variety of musical and vocal numbers featuring individual choir members, as well as a full choir.

United Church To Lead Way

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The United Church of Canada should take the initiative in ensuring that union between it and the Anglican Church is accomplished as easily as possible, Rev. E. M. Howe, moderator of the United Church, said Tuesday night.

He told 500 persons on the second day of a church conference that, in addition to passing the proposed document on the principles of union, the United Church must also announce its readiness to engage in other action leading to union.

He suggested integration of Anglican and United Church theological colleges and overseas missions; consolidation of isolated parishes; and the recognition of each church's members in full communion.

The principles of union come before the general council for approval at a meeting in Waterloo in September.

Siamese Twins Die In Bern

BERN, Switzerland (Reuters) — The first Siamese twins born in Switzerland died Wednesday after spending more than a month in hospital.

The two girls, Ines and Sybil Marti, were joined at the chest and stomach.

Nine Canadians Participate At Switzerland Conference

Nine Canadians will participate in the World Conference on Church and Society at Geneva, Switzerland, July 12-26, to be attended by 400 social scholars and theologians from every continent.

It will mark the first worldwide effort to re-study Christian social responsibility since the Oxford World Conference on Church, Community and State in 1937.

The delegates will seek to determine the role of the churches in the global struggle for social justice, human rights, peace, and the equitable distribution of the earth's resources.

Proposals formulated will be sent to member churches of the World Council of Churches for consideration and appropriate action.

The United Church of Canada will be represented by Miss Florence Phillipot of the Vanier Family Life Institute, Ottawa; Wilson Woodside, national director of the United Nations Association, Toronto; and Rev. Wilfred C. Lockhart, principal of United College, Winnipeg.

Rev. Canon Maurice P. Wilkison, general secretary of the Department of Social Service and Arnold Edmonstone, both of Toronto, have been delegated by the Anglican Church of Canada while Rev. A. J. Gouland, Toronto, secretary of the Board of Evangelism and Social Action will represent the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Mrs. Roger Hutchinson, now taking graduate studies at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., and another delegate yet to be appointed will attend as representatives of the Canadian youth community.

Roman Catholic observers at the conference will include Rev. William Ryan, assistant director of the English-speaking Department of Social Action, Ottawa.

Recent developments in Roman Catholic social thinking will be interpreted at the conference by Rev. Canon Charles Moeller of the University of Louvain, Belgium.

Rev. Martin Luther King, the American civil rights leader, and Nobel Prize winner, will preach at an ecumenical service of worship in the Cathedral of St. Pierre, Geneva, July 17.

The assembly's decision came late, Rev. L. R. Files of New London, P.E.I., said the New Testament writings of the apostle Paul show woman is to be the companion of man and should not be given more authority than him.

But Elder Sidney Stevens of Hamilton said the church already is 10 years behind the times.

"We need 20 ministers immediately and could use our trained women," he said.

Today's False Teaching
But in vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men. Matt. 23:2-4. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine, and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables. 2 Tim. 4:3-4. Today's religious dilemma is to be expected, and is fully explainable in the bible, which is the only true inspired word of God we have. To the law and to the testimony: If they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them. Isaiah 8:20.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH BREAKS OLD PRACTICE AS Women Ordained Membership...

TORONTO (CP) — The Presbyterian Church in Canada broke Monday with 91 years' practice and approved lifetime ordination of women to its eldership.

However, the 92nd general assembly deferred discussion of a proposal to allow women to be ordained into the ministry. The debate is to be resolved before the 10-day assembly ends Thursday.

Of Canada's major denominations, only the United Church permits women ministers.

Persons elected from local congregations are called ruling elders—while ministers are referred to as teaching elders.

Both make up the church session which is responsible for forming congregational policies in non-financial matters.

The move means that for the first time since the Presbyterian Church was formed in 1875 women will have an official voice in church courts, from the local to national levels. All 240 official delegates at the assembly are males.

The decision to admit women to the cabinet of local churches followed approval last month in Edinburgh by the Church of Scotland to admit women into its eldership. The two churches are closely related.

The assembly's decision came late, Rev. L. R. Files of New London, P.E.I., said the New Testament writings of the apostle Paul show woman is to be the companion of man and should not be given more authority than him.

But Elder Sidney Stevens of Hamilton said the church already is 10 years behind the times.

"We need 20 ministers immediately and could use our trained women," he said.

THERE'S SOMETHING AMISS HERE

I don't know but it seems as though Terry Harper, left, of the Montreal Canadiens and Dick Fouts, of the B.C. Lions are a wee bit mixed up as to what sport they play. Harper and Fouts are in Kelowna on business and were caught by a roving camera in a somewhat playful mood.

EFFORTS TO STRENGTHEN FAIL

Kelowna Labs' Lineup Set

It's about time the Kelowna Labatts declared themselves. Are they going to be tailenders all year long and play ball like they did against Peñitacion last time the Mosons were in town? Or are they going to come up with some more heads up play as they end Thursday night in Kamloops.

True enough Henry Tostenson has a few pressing problems but problems have a way of working themselves out.

Pitching has been a thorn in Tostenson's side since the beginning of the year. One night he will receive a good effort from one of his hurlers and the next night he is forced to use someone who can pick the ball up and throw it across the plate.

Les Shaefer could be the answer. Thursday night against Kamloops, Les looked as sharp as he ever has although the Labatts lost 5-4. Allan Vetter shone in the last Labatt home game against North Kamloops, when he struck out 14 men. Dan Hedine has looked impressive on two of his outings. Ken Ross with a little more work will get the job done. Then why are the Labatts in fifth and last place?

An effort by Tostenson to import an American pitcher failed. A last ditch effort to find a West Coast pitcher by the name of Steve Kline fell by the way-

base. Gerry has come out of a batting slump and this can only help the Labatts march toward a playoff spot. Richard Bullock and Alf Davy form a strong combination at second and short respectively. Neither man has been hitting too well but they are good glove men and don't make too many mistakes in the field. Garney Howard has been a pleasant surprise at third. Last Saturday Howard picked up three hits and he has also looked good in the field.

The outfield is somewhat unsettled with the moving of Wayne Leonard from centre back behind the plate. Jack Burton is a fixture in the outfield and Nick Blumich is giving Jack lots of help. If Shaefer doesn't start tonight he may end up playing right field. Colin Trugwell and Rene Rantucci can also be called upon to play the outfield. Wayne Leonard will be behind the plate playing his usual steady game.

Game time tonight is 8 at Elks Stadium.

Kidd To Carry Queen's Message

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says Canadian diplomat Bruce Kidd has been chosen to carry the Queen's message to the British Empire Games in Kingston, Jamaica, in August.

The Queen's message is carried in the same manner as the Olympic torch.

Kidd will take the message from the Queen July 24, his 23rd birthday, trot out of her back yard and through the streets of London flanked by two escorts, one of whom will be Brian Kilby, who won the marathon at the 1962 Games for Britain.

"He will hand the message to Jamaican hurdler, Keith Gardner at the first checkpoint and Gardner will carry it with him on a flight to Jamaica, where it then will be carried by runners to the official opening of the games."

NO HITTER ACCOMPLISHED FRIDAY IN BABE RUTH LEAGUE ACTION

It seems Sunny Siebert wasn't the only pitcher to hurl a no-hitter Friday night. The feat was also accomplished by David Barr of the Legion Babe Ruth League team who held CKOV batters at the Legion won 11-1.

CKOV would not have scored a run if Barr had not given up five walks and received some shaky support from his teammates. Doug Gerow was the loser for CKOV.

At Elks Stadium, Lions defeated Kinsmen 11-2. Steve Tretry was the winning pitcher. Brad Dillman, making his first start in Babe Ruth competition, was the loser. Dillman struck out eight and walked 16 in his debut.

Allan Koehn was the top batter for Lions as he knocked out two hits in four trips to the plate. Earl Houghton went three for four for the losers.

Floyd-Chuvalo May Fight Again

NEW YORK (CP)—Floyd Patterson, former world heavyweight champion, has been offered a September date in Madison Square Garden to face either Canadian champion George Chuvalo or Oscar Bonavena of Argentina. It was disclosed today.

Chuvalo, 26, of Toronto, and Bonavena, 24, were in a 10-round bout in the Garden here June 23.

Harry Markson, managing director of boxing at the Garden and Garden stakeholder Ted Treacher made the offer to Patterson Thursday after getting the approval of Chuvalo and Bonavena.

PATTERSON WON BEFORE. A Patterson-Chuvalo meeting would be their second. Patterson won a unanimous decision over the Canadian heavyweight Feb. 1, 1965, before a sellout crowd of 19,100 at Madison Square Garden.

SIEBERT, KOUFAX HOLD COURT

Sonny Hurls No-Hitter Dandy Sandy Wins 11th

By MURRAY CHAM

Associated Press Sports Writer

A wife's berthing didn't hurt Sunny Siebert.

In fact, the Cleveland Indians' right-hander thinks it might have given him the first no-hitter in the major leagues this season and Cleveland's first since Bob Feller's in 1931.

Siebert, 29, who said his wife was kidding him about his poor pitching this season, within two baserunners of a perfect game as the Indians defeated Washington Senators 5-0 in American League action Friday night.

"I told her if you don't get off my back, I'll go out and pitch a no-hitter," he said afterwards.

The Senators didn't get a man on base until the fifth when Dick Nen walked on a 3-2 pitch. Paul Casanova was the only other Senator to get on, reaching first on Chico Salmon's low throw in the eighth.

DIED ON FIRST

Neither runner went any further than first, and Siebert permitted just three balls to leave the infield, the last fly ball by Bob Saverine to Chuck Hinton in left field for the final out of the game.

The victory was Siebert's fifth against three defeats. He was 16-8 last season, his second in the majors.

The no-hitter was the first since Dave Morehead of Boston in 1916.

Red Sox hurled one against Detroit Tigers defeated New York Yankees 6-2, Minnesota Twins stopped Chicago White Sox 6-2 and Kansas City Athletics edged California Angels 3-2.

Sandy Koufax, who numbers relief pitchers among his favorite people, keeps giving them the cold shoulder.

The Los Angeles southpaw breezed to his eighth straight complete game victory Friday night, subduing San Francisco on four hits as the Dodgers trimmed the Giants 6-1 and San Diego 2-1.

climbed past them into first place in the National League.

Koufax hasn't needed any help from the bullpen since May 3, a white leading a Dodger charge from sixth place and overtaking Juan Marichal of the Giants for the major league pitching lead.

Koufax now is 11-1 with a 1.40 earned run average. Marichal is 10-2 with a 1.70 E.R.A.

Last year Koufax completed 27 starts, tops in the league for a left-hander since 1921.

Sandy, however, has the deepest respect for relievers.

They are his biggest argument against the likelihood of a 30-victory season—an achievement he appears to be courting again this season with his best getaway ever.

GIVES HIS REASON

"Those kind of records are all in the past," he has said. "The reason is simple. Relief pitchers are true specialists and you can't blame a manager for going to his bullpen."

Dizzy Dean was the last pitcher to win 30-32 years ago. Hal Newhouse won 29 in 1944. Robin Roberts won 28 in 1952 and Don Newcombe captured 27 in 1956. Koufax captured 2 in 1958. Koufax was a 20-game winner last season.

He's 10 days ahead of his 1965 pace having won No. 11 last June 20. He had 10 complete games at that time; this year he has gone the distance in 11 of his 14 starts—including the run of eight that began a month ago Friday.

Seattle Gets Past Mounties Hold Down First Place In PCL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a night of close shaves in the Pacific Coast League Friday. Elks Stadium singled in a run and earned the Tulsa Oilers a 6-3 decision over Phoenix.

That kept the Oilers in front of Indianapolis for the lead in the eastern division, although Indianapolis edged Portland twice, 1-0 in the opener and 3-2 in the nightcap.

Seattle whitesashed Vancouver 3-0 and moved up into first place in the western division, replacing Portland.

Spokane took a 5-4 decision from Tacoma, Oklahoma City squeezed past San Diego 3-2, and Hawaii beat Denver 7-5.

Chacon's single came with the bases loaded. It brought in Ed Spierlo, who also had singled.

Frank Johnson banged two homers for Phoenix to raise his season total to seven. Jose Laboy blasted another for Tulsa with a mate on base.

Tom Burgmeier gave up only two hits and fanned 11 for Seattle's conquest. He walked two in racking up his second victory against three losses. A double by Jim Campana accounted for Seattle's lone run in the second.
